

DFY AMAZON STOREFRONT LAUNCH

Three storefront looks, each with its list and its pins.

Every look is a finished Idea List in the client's Amazon storefront plus two Pinterest pins, each carrying the #ad disclosure. This is 3 of the 10 in a launch.

BUILT FOR

Lilac Lane Nursery Finds

Carly Dawes runs an Amazon Influencer storefront for new and expecting moms. She's faceless: her lifestyle pins use her own AI persona, from her own reference sheet, with a lilac enamel travel mug as her signature prop.

★ Sample built for a fictional client.

EVERY PIN

Links to the look's Idea List. Carries "#ad As an Amazon Influencer I earn from qualifying purchases." in the description. Never a price.

THE SIX IMAGE PROMPTS, IN FULL

AZ-1A · Look 1 pin 1: Format B: shoppable collage

Seedream 4.5 on Higgsfield, 4K portrait 2:3, style reference and product sheet attached

Using the first image as a style reference for the layout, the fullness and the title lettering, not an exact copy, please make me a shoppable nursery finds collage for Pinterest, portrait 2:3, on a soft cream background with a faint linen texture. I can't use the exact Amazon images outside of Amazon, so please create a new clean cut-out product photo of each item in the second image, each with a soft drop shadow: a sage green muslin fitted crib sheet folded, a cream knit throw with fringe, a small wooden peg shelf, a round jute rug, an oatmeal plush lamb, a linen storage basket with handles and a small warm white night light. Add three matching extras: a stack of board books, a sage knit baby hat and a eucalyptus sprig. Pack them around a central title so the canvas is full edge to edge, items overlapping slightly, every product fully inside the frame. Add a few tiny accents: small leaves and little sparkles. In the middle, set directly on the background, a large two-style title: "SAGE NURSERY" in a bold high-contrast serif in capitals with "finds" in a thick flowing brush script, deep forest green, perfectly spelled, crisp and fully legible, filling about half the width. Each item matches its screenshot in colour, shape and detail and looks like a real photo, not a render. No logos, no brand names, no labels on products, no prices, no other text.

AZ-1B · Look 1 pin 2: Lifestyle photo: detail shot of hands

Google Gemini first, client's persona reference sheet attached, then Nano Banana Pro 2K on Higgsfield

Photograph of this exact woman from the attached reference sheet. Identity is taken only from the reference. Using the first image as a style reference, not an exact copy, please make me one single very realistic lifestyle photo, not a collage or grid. I can't use the exact Amazon images, so this is a new photo. Scene: a calm nursery corner in the late afternoon: the sage muslin crib sheet on the crib, the cream knit throw over the arm of a nursing chair, the wooden peg shelf on the wall with the oatmeal lamb sitting on it, the round jute rug and the linen basket on the floor, the night light glowing low. Format: detail shot of her hands smoothing the knit throw over the chair arm, her face not in frame. She wears an oversized oatmeal cardigan and a thin gold bracelet; nails bare. Her lilac enamel travel mug sits on the side table. Make it look like a good-quality photo taken on a phone: 26mm phone lens, natural light from a side window, realistic camera angle, real fabric texture, small real-life imperfections, nothing glossy. Portrait 2:3. No lettering, no signs, no logos, no text anywhere in the frame.

AZ-2A · Look 2 pin 1: Format A: styled flat lay

Seedream 4.5 on Higgsfield, 4K portrait 2:3, style reference and product sheet attached

Using the first image as a style reference for the styling, the fullness and the title lettering, not an exact copy, please make me a very realistic overhead flat lay photo of the items in the second image. I can't use the exact Amazon images outside of Amazon, so this needs to be a new photo. Shot straight down, portrait 2:3, like a good-quality photo taken on a phone. The open dusty lilac quilted weekend bag sits at the centre on rumpled cream linen, with the items laid around it as if being packed: the button-front nursing pyjamas folded, two pairs of cosy socks, a coiled long white charging cable, a silky pillowcase, a tiny cream knit going-home set and a travel toiletry pouch set. Tucked in around them, filling the frame edge to edge with almost no empty background: a small bunch of white ranunculus, a lip balm, a hair claw clip, a paperback book and a pair of newborn mittens. Every product sits fully inside the frame. Soft natural window light, gentle real shadows, visible fabric texture, small real-life imperfections, photorealistic. Across the upper third, set directly on the photo, a large two-style title: "HOSPITAL BAG" in a bold high-contrast serif in capitals, with "packed pretty" beneath it in a thick flowing brush script, both in near-black, perfectly spelled, sharp edges, high contrast, filling about two thirds of the width. No logos, no brand names, no labels on products, no prices, no other text.

Photograph of this exact woman from the attached reference sheet. Identity is taken only from the reference. Using the first image as a style reference, not an exact copy, please make me one single very realistic lifestyle photo, not a collage or grid. I can't use the exact Amazon images, so this is a new photo. Scene: her front hallway by the door, early morning, the packed dusty lilac quilted weekend bag on a wooden bench with the tiny cream knit going-home set folded on top. Format: chin-down crop from the shoulders to the knees, face out of frame, one hand resting on her pregnant belly and the other on the bag's handle. She wears the soft button-front nursing pyjama top under a long oatmeal cardigan, and cosy socks. Her lilac enamel travel mug sits on the bench. Hair worn in a low claw clip. Make it look like a good-quality photo taken on a phone: 26mm phone lens, soft morning light from the door's glass panel, realistic camera angle, real fabric texture, small real-life imperfections, nothing glossy. Portrait 2:3. No lettering, no signs, no logos, no text anywhere in the frame.

Using the first image as a style reference for the styling, the fullness and the title lettering, not an exact copy, please make me a very realistic overhead flat lay photo of the outfit in the second image. I can't use the exact Amazon images outside of Amazon, so this needs to be a new photo. Shot straight down, portrait 2:3, like a good-quality photo taken on a phone. The outfit is laid out as if worn, pieces overlapping and touching, on warm wood floorboards: the long camel wrap coat open, the cream cable-knit turtleneck inside it, the straight-leg jeans below, white leather sneakers at the hem, the cream crossbody bag at the hip, and beside them the oatmeal baby carrier with the tiny rust knit bonnet resting on it. Each item matches its screenshot in colour, shape and detail. Tucked in around the outfit, filling the frame edge to edge with almost no empty background: scattered orange maple leaves, a takeaway coffee cup with no print, a pair of sunglasses, a small pumpkin and a knit baby blanket. Every product sits fully inside the frame. Soft natural window light, gentle real shadows, visible fabric texture, small real-life imperfections, photorealistic. Across the upper third, set directly on the photo, a large two-style title: "FIRST FALL" in a bold high-contrast serif in capitals, with "walk" beneath it in a thick flowing brush script, both in near-black, perfectly spelled, sharp edges, high contrast, filling about two thirds of the width. No logos, no brand names, no labels on products, no prices, no other text.

Format: over-the-shoulder walking away down a quiet tree-lined lane with orange leaves on the ground, her face turned slightly to the side, not the focus. Hair worn in a loose low bun. In one hand, her lilac enamel travel mug. Make it look like a good-quality photo taken on a phone: 26mm phone lens, soft golden afternoon light, realistic camera angle, real fabric texture, small real-life imperfections, nothing glossy.
