THE PART NOBODY TELLS YOU

You found the look. Now what?

You built the storefront. You made the lists. But every look still comes with four jobs, and tomorrow brings a new look with the same four jobs.

1 The photos

The pieces on their own, styled, and in real life. For every look.

2 The words

A title, a description and alt text for every single Pin.

3 Where people shop it

The right products on the right Amazon list, linked the right way.

4 Doing it all again

Same jobs. New look. Every single day.

> “
> Passive income isn’t passive when you’re the one doing every job.

6 Pins a day. By hand?

Two looks a day, three Pins each. Plus the blog posts and the carousels.

AGAIN 11:48 pm

TONIGHT’S LIST, BY HAND

- [x] ~~Find the pieces~~
- [x] ~~Shoot the flat lay~~
- [ ] Style the scene
- [ ] Get the lifestyle shot
- [ ] Write 3 Pin titles and descriptions
- [ ] Write the alt text
- [ ] Add it all to the Amazon list
- [ ] Write the blog post
- [ ] Make the carousel
- [ ] Schedule everything

HERE'S THE SHIFT

What if the treadmill ran without you?

The While-You-Sleep Storefront™ isn't a guide you follow. It's an automation you set up once, with your taste, your themes and your accounts. Then it does all four jobs every night while you sleep. It's the system behind the looks on my own Lifestyle blog.

"NO THINKING."

JODIE, ON WHY SHE BUILT IT

1 Set it up once

The Quick Start takes about 15 minutes. Making it fully yours takes about an hour.

2 It works overnight

It plans and sources the looks, makes the photos and Pins, writes the posts and schedules it all.

3 Automatic, or approve first

It runs on its own by default. Switch approvals on to OK each look first. I recommend that for your first few days.

ONE NIGHT, THE WAY IT'S BUILT TO RUN

You go to bed. It goes to work.

By morning, 2 finished, shoppable looks are ready: 6 Pins, 2 blog posts and 2 carousels.

11 PM

You log off

Computer on, signed into Amazon. Go to bed.

OVERNIGHT

Amazon list made

The finds saved to a themed Idea List on your storefront.

OVERNIGHT

2 looks planned

Each with a Basic, Styled and Lifestyle photo.

OVERNIGHT

6 Pins made and scheduled

3 per look, each linked to its Idea List.

OVERNIGHT

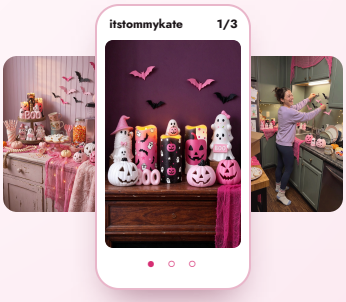

2 blog posts written

One for each look, with every find linked.

OVERNIGHT

2 IG carousels made and scheduled

One for each look: Basic, Styled, Lifestyle, with the caption.

7 AM ONWARD

Then it all goes out, spaced through the day.

SHOW, DON'T TELL · A REAL LOOK

One look. Three photos.

This is The Pink Ghost Coffee Bar, a look it built for my storefront. Every look gets three photos, always in this order: what to buy, how it looks styled, and how it looks in real life.

1 BASIC

See the pieces

Only the finds on the list. The one photo that gets a headline.

2 STYLED

Feel the style

The same pieces in a real setting, fully styled and never bare.

3 LIFESTYLE

Picture it in your life

My persona, Tommy Kate, using the pieces in her real rooms.

✦ BASIC → ✦ STYLED → ✦ LIFESTYLE

Same order on every Pin, carousel and post.

Good to know: these are AI-generated styling photos. Details can differ from the linked products, so the real listing is always the final word.

WHAT ONE LOOK MAKES · THE BLOG POST

A shop-the-look post. On your site.

Every look gets its own post on your blog: the story, the three photos and every find, linked. This one is live on my Lifestyle blog right now.

SEE MINE LIVE

The Pink Plaid Pumpkin Patch Outfit

The pumpkin patch was pure mud and I would wear this again tomorrow. A pink plaid shacket over a black square neck crop top, light wash straight leg jeans, white platform sneakers, a purple corduroy tote and the green pom beanie that has basically lived on my head since September.

THE AMAZON LIST FOR THIS LOOK · 6 FINDS

LINKED ON THE POST

01  Pink plaid button down shacket

02  Black square neck ribbed crop top

03  Light wash straight leg jeans

04  White platform sneakers

05  Purple corduroy tote bag

06  Dark green cable knit pom beanie

Why a blog? Pinterest and Google are search engines, so a Pin or a post keeps getting found long after the day it goes up. A feed forgets you by lunch.

MAKE IT YOURS

Your taste. Your recipe.

YOUR recipe

My examples are pink because I am. Yours might be cozy farmhouse, moody florals or full-on sparkle. You set the recipe once, and every look follows it.

- HOME DECOR
- SEASONAL SHELVES

THREE THINGS YOU CHOOSE ONCE

1

Your themes

Seasons, holidays and the life you actually live.

2

Your look

The colors, rooms and styling that feel like you.

3

Your setup

Claude, ChatGPT or both. Automatic, or approve each look first.

Picture your first look: a weekend outfit, a seasonal shelf, a gift guide your people would save.

PICTURE NEXT WEEK

Imagine waking up already posted.

It's Monday. You're on the porch with your coffee, and two new looks are already going out.

You didn't hunt for a single product. You didn't write one Pin title, open a photo app or sit up at 11:48 pm with a to-do list.

School drop-off. Errands. Dinner. Bed. And tonight it does it all again.

No more "what do I post today?" Your storefront keeps showing up while you live your life.

ONE WEEK OF IT

HONEST, UP FRONT

What you handle. What it handles.

YOU DO · ONCE

Set it up

- Do the 15-minute Quick Start, or give it about an hour to make it fully yours.
- Pick Claude, ChatGPT or both. Use the one you already have.
- Choose automatic, or approve each look first.
- Leave your computer on and signed into Amazon overnight.
- Go to bed.

IT DOES · EVERY NIGHT

The whole routine

- Plans and sources 2 looks.
- Makes 3 photos per look: Basic, Styled and Lifestyle.
- Makes and schedules 6 Pins, each linked to its themed Idea List.
- Writes a blog post for each look.
- Makes and schedules 2 Instagram carousels.

MADE FOR

Amazon Influencers and storefront owners who are done posting every day, and owners of The Weekend Ecosystem™ who want their blog filled.

YOUR ACCOUNTS

It runs on your own accounts: Claude or ChatGPT, plus an image tool. Those costs are separate, and the setup tells you which plan to pick.

YOUR CALL

It runs automatically by default. I recommend approvals on for your first few days, so you OK each look before it goes out.

Real talk: no sales or income promises. What happens after a Pin goes out depends on your taste, your niche and your audience.

It's a website, not a PDF. The full Storefront lives on a site that gets regular updates, so it never goes stale, with new affiliate brand automations on the way.

YOU'RE ON THE LIST · HERE'S WHAT HAPPENS NEXT

Go to bed. Wake up posted.

I built this to run my own storefront, and I refuse to gatekeep it. You'll get an email from me the moment it opens.
